Spanish-born guitarist and composer Oscar Peñas and Mivos Quartet joins forces for a classical-jazz suite inspired by the 3,000-year-old Andalusian fishing tradition known as the almadraba. Borrowing sounds from Cuban and South American folk music, as well as from Peñas' own Iberian heritage, the composition pays poetic tribute to this age-old ecological technique for sustainably trapping bluefin tuna. A musical narration of this arduous process the labyrinthine formation boats to the dramatic hoisting of nets Almadraba is both a lush melding of sonic styles and a celebration of ancient wisdom.
